What are the benefits of being a Board member?

You'll be a representative voice for your fellow members, and have direct say in the overall direction of the Credit Union. You'll gain knowledge and experience about the running of a financial institution, strategic planning, and the credit union movement. New and current volunteers will receive many opportunities to upgrade their skills and knowledge. New directors will be required to complete a pathway of training within the first three years of their election to the board.

What do Board members do?

Board members are responsible for establishing policies, determining overall objectives, and setting long-range plans. Other responsibilities include:

- appointing the Credit Union's CEO, who reports directly to the Board
- approving the annual budget and expenditures
- authorizing necessary bond coverage, investments and depositories for funds
- reviewing progress of the Credit Union in serving member needs
- reviewing and acting upon delinquent loans
- ensuring the proper and efficient management of the Credit Union

Board members attend monthly meetings and a longer planning session in the summer. Board members may also serve on various committees.

How long does each member serve?

Terms are for three years. Board positions are voluntary and unpaid; however, expenses related to Board business are paid by the Credit Union.

Who can be a Board member?

Candidates must:

- have time available to dedicate to Credit Union meetings and research
